THE INEVITABLE

*I like the man who faces what he must
With step triumphant and a heart of cheer;
Who fights the daily battle without fear;
Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust
That God is God,—that somehow, true and just
His plans work out for mortals; not a tear
Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
Falls from his grasp—better, with love, a crust
Than loving in dishonor; envies not,
Nor loses faith in man; but does his best,
Nor ever murmurs at his humbler lot;
But, with a smile and words of hope, gives zest
To every toiler. He alone is great
Who by a life heroic conquers fate.*

Greetings

All men who deserve to live, desire to survive their funerals, and to live afterward in the good that they have done mankind, rather than by the fading characters written upon a tablet or monument. Most men desire to leave some work behind them that will outlast their own day and brief generation. This is an instinctive impulse given by God, often found in the rudest human heart; the surest proof of the soul's immortality and of the fundamental difference between man and the wisest brute. To sow, that others may reap; to work and plant for those who are to occupy the earth when we are dead; to project our influences far into the future, and live beyond our time; should be one of our chief aims. This is the proudest destiny of man.

More than twenty years have passed since I started to compile the data contained within these pages. It has been necessary to secure most of these facts from others, and I present them as they were furnished me. Every one from whom I have requested data has co-operated splendidly, thus enabling me to present the following record. Thanks to all who have so cheerfully assisted. If those who read these pages are encouraged and benefitted, my chief desire will be fulfilled.

FAMILY TREE
1765 Seven Generations 1925

Jesse Funston (1)

Born in Ireland, about 1765. Died in Pike Co., Ohio, in 1802 or 1803. Married in Northumberland Co., Penn., about 1785.

Margaret Hewitt.

Born in Pennsylvania about 1766. Died in Perry, Ill., in 1854. Four children. Thomas (1-1), John (1-2), Robert (1-3), and Margaret (1-4).

JESSE FUNSTON (1)

Was born in Ireland (some claim in Wales) about 1765 and came to America about 1785, locating in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania. Here he met Margaret Hewitt and they were married a year or two later. They lived in Pennsylvania until about 1800. At this time they moved in a covered wagon, driving an ox team, to Pike Co., Ohio. In this early day, in the newly settled country, fevers were very common. Jesse Funston died in Pike Co. of Typhus Fever in 1802 or 1803. They lived upon a farm, but he was a carpenter by trade. He manufactured a large wooden chest, all made by hand throughout. This chest still remains in the family.

Margaret Hewitt Funston, his wife, was born in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, about 1766. She was the daughter of Thomas Hewitt (born in Ireland) and Rebecca Dugan (born in Ireland), both of whom died in Pennsylvania. She had four brothers, Robert, John, William and Thomas, and three sisters, Isabell (who married a man by the name of Cochran), Betty (who married a man by the name of Kind), and Nancy (who never married). After her husband, Jesse Funston, died in Pike Co., she moved with her three sons and daughter to Ross County, Ohio, and later, after her family was grown, married Granthom Earle. They had one son, Wm. Earle, and one daughter, Rebecca Earle. Granthom Earle died in Ohio, and in 1845 Margaret Hewitt Funston Earle moved to Pike County, Illinois, where she died in 1854. Her son, Wm. Earle, married Betty Kyle. They moved to Texas where they both died. Her daughter, Rebecca Earle, married Robert Works. They moved from Ohio to Perry, Pike Co., Ill., where Rebecca died in 1859. They had one son, John Works, who married and moved to California, and one daughter, Nancy Works, who never married.

THOMAS FUNSTON (1-1)

The oldest son of Jesse Funston and Margaret Hewitt Funston, was born in Northumberland County, Pa., March 26, 1789. He moved with his parents to Pike County, Ohio, about the year 1800. His father died a year or two later. Being the oldest son and main support of the family, he lived with his mother, two younger brothers and sister in Pike County, Ohio, until 1807. At this time they moved to Ross County, Ohio, and settled near Chillicothe, on the Sciota River. They lived in the river bottom for a few years. The country was new and there was much malarial sickness, so they abandoned their river bottom home in 1810 or 1812 and moved nine miles west, where they purchased ninety acres of high land, which was hilly, stony and covered with heavy timber. Here he, with the help of his younger brothers, cut the timber and built a two story hewed log house. They cleared the land and got it under cultivation. He lived here with his mother and brothers and sister until the time of his marriage to Nancy Hubbard, May 8, 1817.

At this time, or soon thereafter, his mother married Granthom Earle, and Thomas purchased her interest in the home place and bought out his brothers and sister, and continued to live upon the ninety acre farm. This was the only property he accumulated during his life.

In the log cabin on this farm all eleven of his children were born, and here he lived until the time of his death. The land afforded excellent pasture for stock and he always kept a flock of sheep which furnished the wool for winter clothing for the family, and blankets for their beds. The sheep were sheared, the wool carded and manufactured into clothing at home, so that it never left the farm from the time it was taken from the sheep's back until it landed upon the back of some member of the family. They also raised flax, which was manufactured upon the farm by the family into summer clothing, linen and towels. They never enjoyed any luxuries. The two story log cabin in which they lived had one room downstairs and one room up stairs. In place of glass in the windows, they had oiled paper. The family lived upon plain, wholesome food, never enjoying wheat bread, except once a week, for Sunday morning breakfast.

While a young man, before Thomas was married, he was thrown from a horse and his left arm broken at the elbow. This left him with only a partial use of his left arm, the elbow being stiff. Handicapped as he was, they lived upon the farm and raised their own eleven children to manhood and womanhood, except two, and they also raised two other children. His sister, Margaret Funston Parish, was left with four small girls by the untimely death of her husband, and he assisted in the bringing up of these four girls. With the exception of the time spent in the army during the war of 1812, Thomas Funston was engaged in farming, and never traveled more than fifty miles away from his home. He had a fairly good education for his time. He was raised a Presbyterian, but later, with his wife, belonged to the Methodist Church, under whose guidance all of their children were raised.

JOHN FUNSTON (1-2)

Second son of Jesse Funston and Margaret Hewitt Funston, was born in Northumberland County, Pa., about 1791. He moved with his parents to Pike Co., Ohio, about 1800, where his father died a year or two later. In 1807, his mother moved with the family to Ross Co., Ohio, where he lived until grown to manhood. He never married, and leaving Ohio he became a captain upon a steamboat line operating between Cincinnati and New Orleans. Later he became the owner of one of these steamboats. He is reported to have accumulated considerable wealth for his time, and is reported to have owned a large tract of land in Georgia. This report could never be verified. For some years he made his home in New Orleans, where he contracted yellow fever, from which attack he never fully recovered. Below is a copy of a letter dated Dec. 30, 1844, written by Wm. Pack of Clinton, Miss., to his mother, Margaret Hewitt Funston Earle. The original of this letter is in the author's possession. This was in the days before postage stamps were used and in the upper right hand corner of the envelope is marked with pen and ink "25 cents" for the postage.

Mrs. M. G. Earle:

Clinton, Hynes Co., Miss., Dec. 30, 1844.

Dear Madam:

Your favor to Capt. Funston and myself, date the 9 of Novem, has Juste come to hand. I will now answer your inquiry and give you the particulars about your son John Funston. He died at my house on the first day of July in the year 1842. He had a steamboat in partnership with a young man of New Orleans at the time of his attacked with the yellow fever in New Orleans, as he recovered from the fever he was attacked with the consumption after he had been there some time I got a friend of ours to go to New Orleans and bring him up to my house in Madison Co., Miss. where he remained till his death. Previous to his death he made a profession of religion and was baptised by immersion by N. R. Grandberry and was a member of Mount Bluff Church at the time of his death. He died happy to all appearance no doubt but it would be gratifying to you to know how he was attended in his moments. I can assure you that he wanted for nothing that this world could afford to make him comfortable so far as attendantt and medison was concerned for he felt to me very much like one of my children and for your comfort I can say that if he had an enemy in this parte of the world I did not know it. I think it strange that the accounts of his death has never reached you soon after his death I wrote and the church has his death published in the Banner and Pioneer that is published at Louisville in Kentucky. No doubt but you would like to know what his situation respecting the things of this world at the time of his death. He had nothing when he left New Orleans but the steamboat that he owned with some young man of that place they owned it in partnership and as Mr. Funston told me that he gave his part to the young man before he left in case he died for he never expected to recover when he left—during his sickness in New Orleans he had two trunks of clothes and a gold watch and some money stolen. I do not recollect how much. I do not recollect the young man's name that he was in partnership with but I think it was Pierce. Capt. Funston had at one time made considerable money but he had sustained some heavy losses by steam boats and some short time previous to his attached himself and his partner had purchased the boat that he was commander of at the time when he was taken sick.

In case this letter should reach you be so good as to answer it so as I may know that you have received it.

Very Respectfully yours,

Wm. Pack

ROBERT FUNSTON (1-3)

Third son of Jesse Funston and Margaret Hewitt Funston, was born in Northumberland County, Pa., about 1795. He moved with his parents to Pike Co., Ohio, in about 1800, where his father died a year or two later. In 1807 his mother moved with the family to Ross Co., Ohio, where he lived until grown to manhood. He never married. He enjoyed an excellent education for the time in which he lived, and was a school teacher of some prominence. While riding an untamed horse, he was thrown and killed about 1840.

JESSE FUNSTON (1-1-2)

Was the son of Thomas Funston (1-1) and Nancy Hubbard Funston. He was born in Ross County, Ohio, near Chillicothe, December 19, 1819. Here upon his father's farm he grew to manhood and later learned the carpenter's trade. He was married to Mahala Nichols in Ross Co., Ohio, Nov. 14, 1848. To this union were born four sons and two daughters. They lived in Ross Co., Ohio, until about 1854, when they moved to Champaign County, Ill., later returning to Ross Co., Ohio. In the spring of 1860 they moved to Union Co., Ohio, and lived on a farm for two years. In October, 1862 they returned to Illinois, and settled in Moultrie Co., near Lovington. Here he lived until the time of his death on May 27, 1874. The account of his death below is taken from a clipping which was published in the Christian Advocate at that time.

"Jesse Funston, born in Ross Co., Ohio, Dec. 19, 1819; professed religion and joined the M. E. Church June, 1840, and continued in her membership till called to his reward, May 27, 1874. He died in great peace, exhorting his family to meet him in heaven. He said, "Tell my brothers and sisters I have gone home." J. C. Keller.

JOSEPH NICHOLS FUNSTON (1-1-2-1)

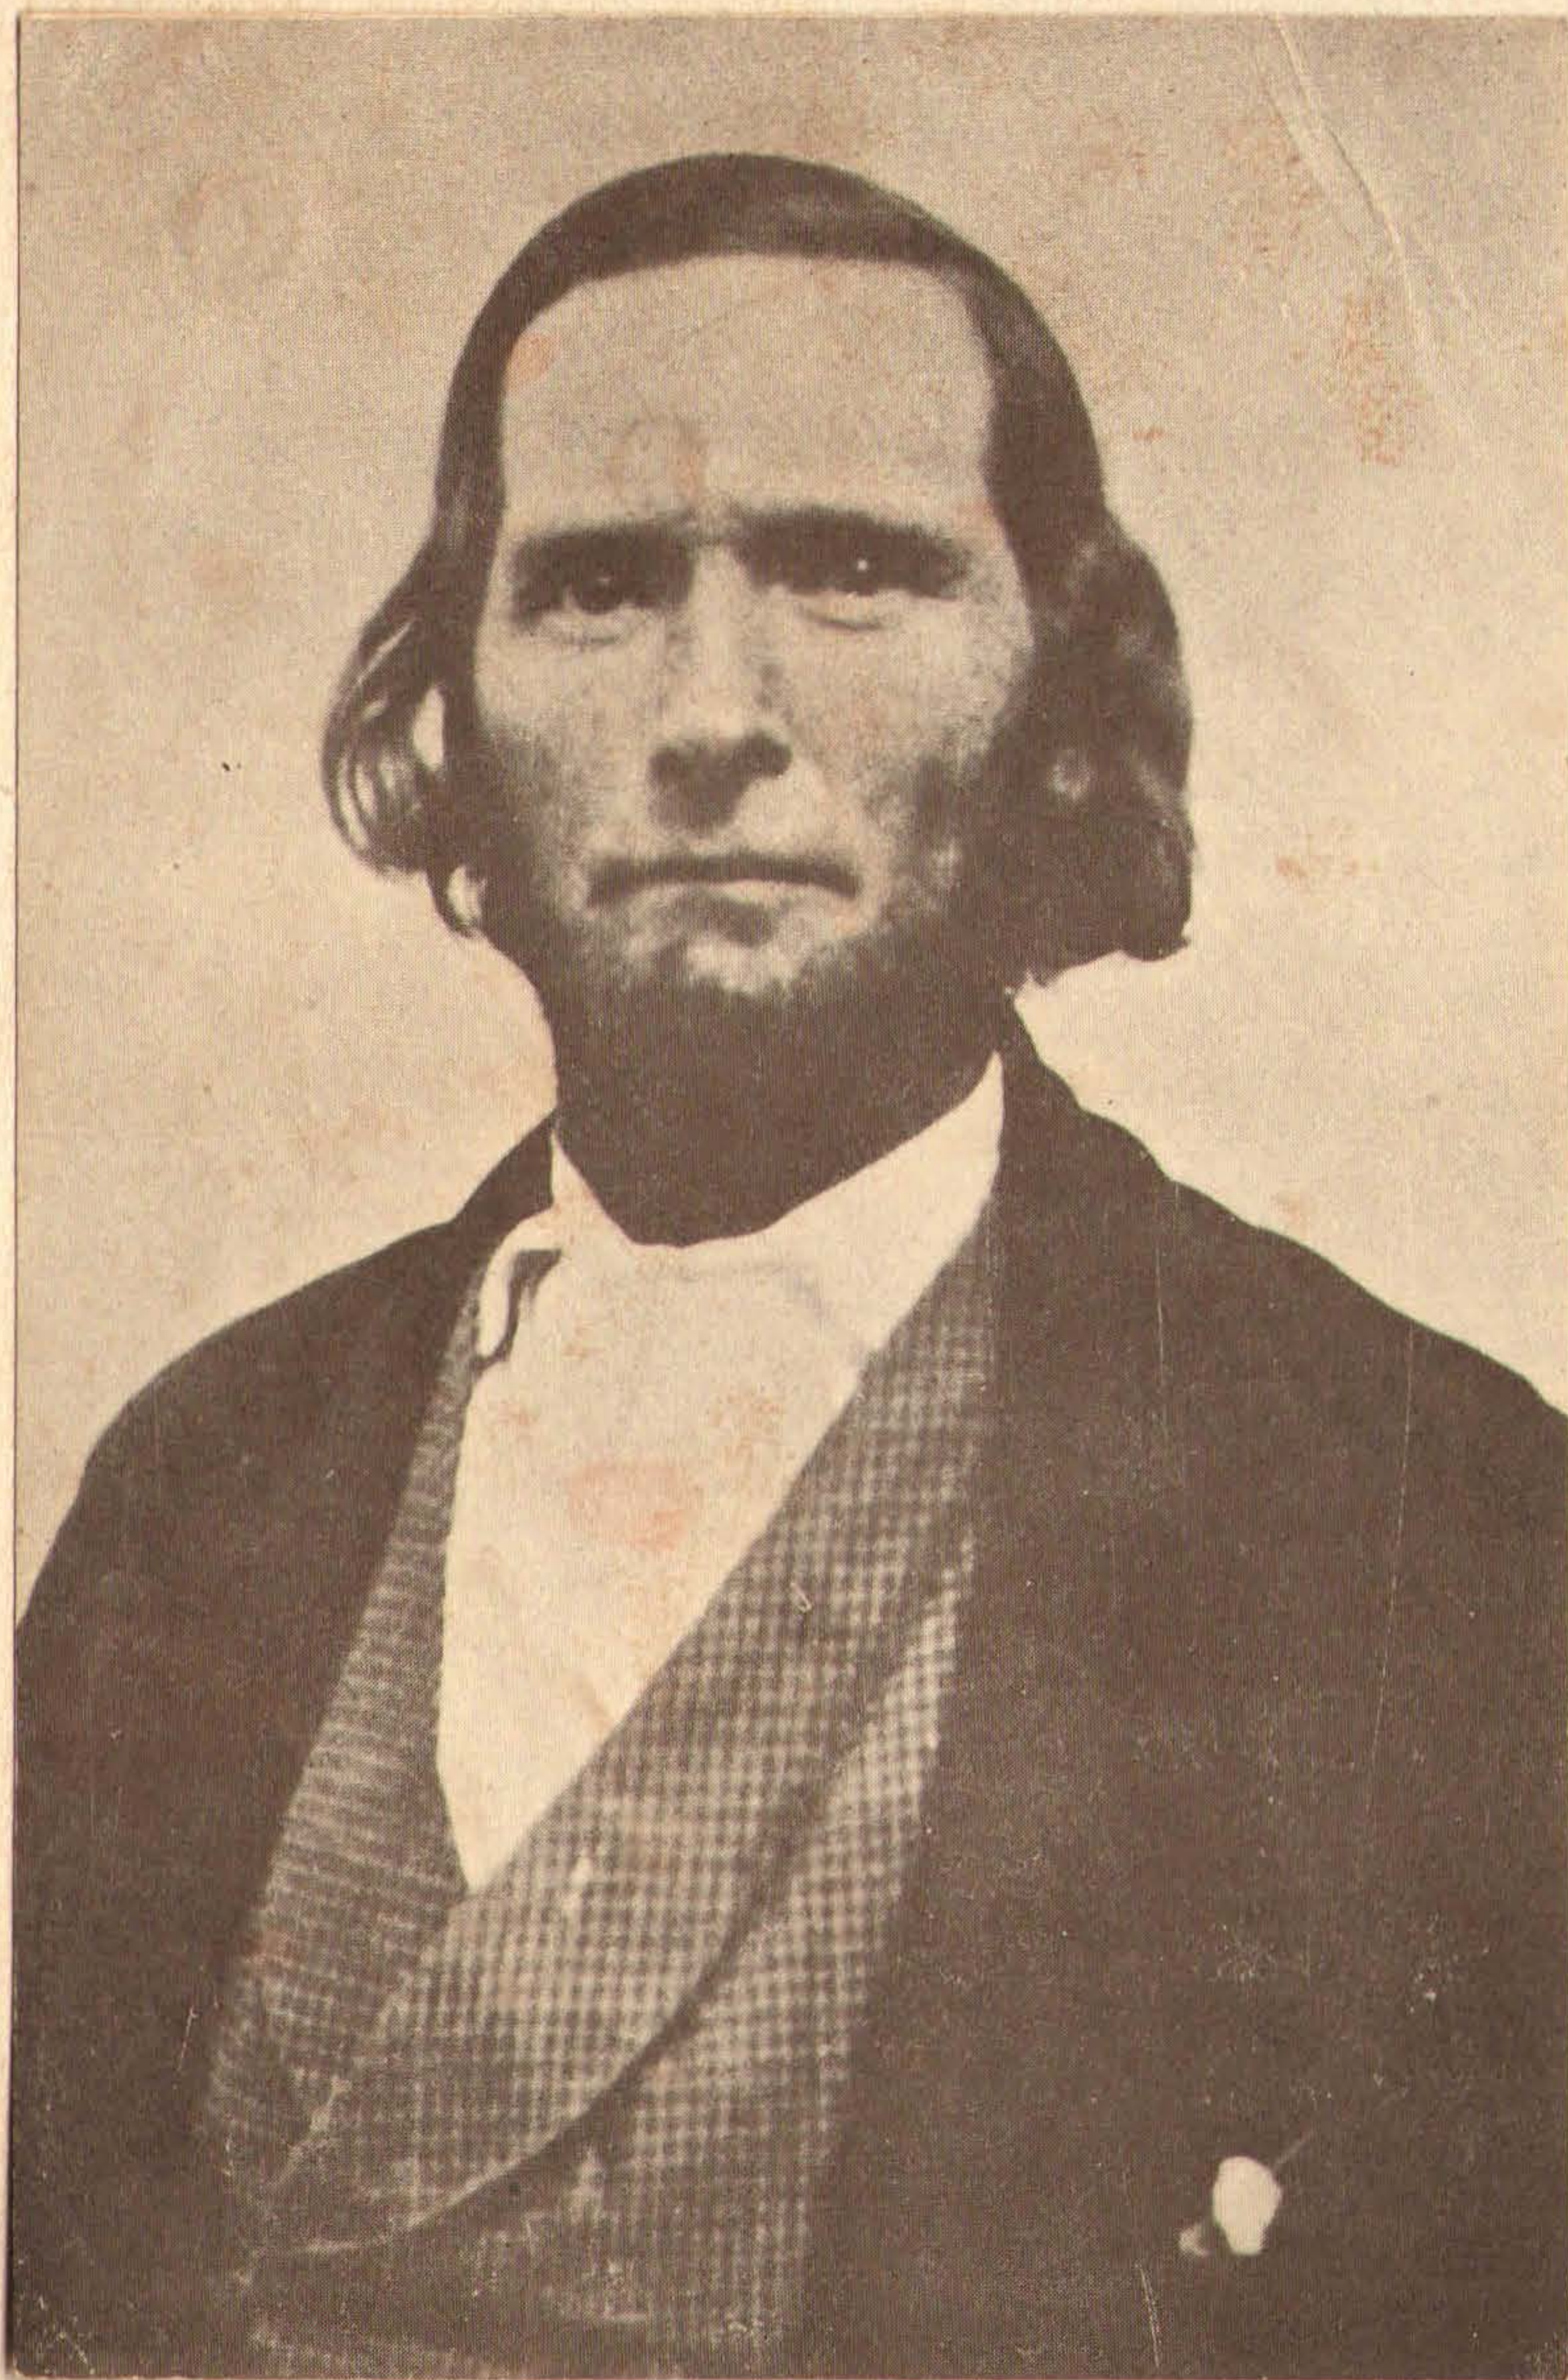

Joseph Nichols Funston was born in Ross Co., Ohio. He moved to Illinois about 1860, and lived with his parents in Moultrie Co., near Lovington. He received his education in the public schools there, and at Mt. Zion Academy and the Illinois Wesleyan University. In 1878 he went to Western Kansas and preached as a supply in Garfield. After finishing a nice church building there he returned to Illinois, and was married to Arminda Davidson, who was a former class mate in Mt. Zion. In the same year, 1880, he was admitted into South Kansas Conference of the Methodist-Episcopal Church.

He preached in the Methodist-Episcopal Church for many years, filling appointments in South Kansas Conference as follows: Arlington, Chase, Sterling, Augusta and Godard. In 1889 he was transferred to the Wisconsin Conference, preaching in Manitowoc and Grand Rapids. In 1891 he returned to southeastern Kansas and was pastor at Neodesha, Erie, Blue Mound, Princeton, Americus, Chetopa, Lebo, and Meriden. He retired in 1919, but preached often, saying he loved the Gospel, and wished them not to feel they imposed on him when asking him to preach.

The following is from the Kansas Conference Minutes, regarding his character and work:

"He was a man of very decided convictions, and with a clear call to the ministry. He gave himself without stint to the work assigned him, and felt that every appointment was a call of God to that field, and in it he sought to do his best, and in all those places his name and labors are held in blessed memory."

"His was a beautiful life. Beautiful in faith, in prayer and communion with God, in forgetfulness of self, and in his love and devotion to others. He cherished and preached with great earnestness and power the fundamental doctrines of Christianity. To him, sin was a reality and salvation a necessity, and he gladly preached it to all as a blessed offer through faith in Jesus Christ.

"His going so soon was not expected, but did not find him unprepared. The gospel he had preached to others was sufficient for him, and repeatedly bore testimony of His presence and sustaining grace in his last sickness.

THOMAS NELSON FUNSTON (1-1-2-2)

Was born in Ross Co., Ohio, and moved with his parents to Union County, Ohio, in 1860. Two years later they moved to Moultrie County, Ill., where his parents located upon a farm about one mile east of Lovington. He lived with them upon the farm until 1868 when he was apprentice to J. W. Peret for a term of two and one-half years to learn the harness-makers' trade. Upon Oct. 27, 1872 he and Elizabeth Susan Boggs were united in marriage at Lovington, Ill. Their four children, Ernest N., Edna P., Ethel B., and Anna May all lived to be useful men and women.

Early in the spring of 1874 he was employed by O. P. Baker & Co., Chicago, Ill., as salesman, remaining with them two years. Jan. 1, 1876 he entered upon what proved to be his life work. At that time he started with Walter A. Wood Co. (later absorbed by the International Harvester Co.) at St. Louis, and continued with them for three years. The remainder of his active life was spent in the Harvester and Implement business. In 1889 he moved to Minneapolis, Minn., and accepted a position as branch manager of Reeves & Co., where he remained for two years. Nov. 1, 1891 he returned to St. Louis as branch manager of the Walter A. Wood Co., with whom he was formerly employed. Continuing with this firm until Sept. 1, 1897 when he was employed by the Milwaukee Harvester Co., as manager of their St. Louis Branch. Oct. 1, 1902, The International Harvester Co. took over the Milwaukee Harvester Co., together with six others, and Nelson was placed in charge of the St. Louis office. He continued until March 1, 1910 when he was transferred to Milwaukee as manager of their Milwaukee office, thus he took an active part in the growth and development of two of the Companies which combined to form the International Harvester Co., and had an active part in the development of this great Company. He continued manager of the Milwaukee office until Nov. 1, 1914, when the Company saw fit to place him upon their pension list. Since then he has lived a retired life at Mountain Grove, Mo.

During his active career he traveled extensively throughout the United States, from east to west and north to south, having been in thirty-eight states and territories, as well as eastern and western Canada and Old Mexico.

Although his was a very active and successful business career, he found much time during these years for Masonic work. He was raised to the degree of Master Mason in 1872, exalted to the Royal Arch in 1874, dubbed and created a Knight Templar in 1875, created a 32nd Degree (Consistory) Member in 1885, created a Companion Royal and Select Mason in 1919, annointed to the Order of High Priests in 1923. He is a Past Master, a Past High Priest, a Past Commander, and an Illustrious Master, and in addition, he is a Shriner. During these years he has also been an active member of the M. E. Church.

JOHN W. FUNSTON (1-1-2-3)

Was born near Chillicothe, Ohio, and moved with his parents to Moultrie County, Ill., where they settled near Lovington, when he was about ten years of age. After the death of his father he continued to live with his mother for many years and farmed the home place. Some time after his marriage he located upon another farm in Moultrie Co., several miles east of Lovington, which he continued to operate until their children were grown. After his mother's death, he moved back upon the old homestead farm, where he continued to live until the time of his death. During his life he was an active member of the M. E. Church.

WILLIAM O. FUNSTON (1-1-2-4)

Was born in Monticello, Ill., and while very small his parents moved back to Ohio, where they lived for a few years, then in 1862 he returned with them to Moultrie Co., Ill., when they settled upon the homestead near Lovington, where he lived until his marriage in 1876. They lived near Lovington upon a farm for the next few years until his wife became an invalid and was confined to the hospital for many years. He has made his home in the vicinity of Lovington and Sullivan continually since that time. He served two terms as sheriff of Moultrie Co., besides occupying other positions of trust. Most of his life, however, was spent upon the farm. During these years he has been an active member of the M. E. Church.

A SMILE

*The Thing that goes the farthest towards making life worth while,
That costs the least and does the most, is just a pleasant smile.
The smile that bubbles from the heart that loves its fellow men
Will drive away the cloud of gloom and coax
the sun again.
It's full of worth and goodness, too, with manly kindness bent;
It's worth a million dollars, and doesn't cost a cent.*

*Think not of what is from thee kept;
Think, rather, what thou hast received;
Thine eyes have smiled, if they have wept;
Thy heart has danced, if it has grieved.
Rich comforts yet shall be thine own;
Yea, God himself shall wipe thine eyes;
And still his love alike is shown
In what he gives, and what denies.*

John Hubbard Funston (1-1-6)

Born Feb. 9, 1828 in Chillicothe, Ohio. Died May 25, 1903 in Champaign, Ill. Occupation: Farmer.

Married Nov. 18, 1852 at Monticello, Ill.

Elizabeth Ellen Bailey:

Born Nov. 26, 1832 in Madison Co., Ohio. Died Sept. 4, 1895 at Champaign, Ill. Thirteen children: Thomas Allen (1-1-6-1) Eliza Jane (1-1-6-2), Margaret Ann (1-1-6-3), Mary Alice (1-1-6-4), Nancy Irene (1-1-6-5), John William (1-1-6-6), George Wiley (1-1-6-7), Cora Belle (1-1-6-8), Edmund Bailey (1-1-6-9), Fanny (1-1-6-10), Jesse Grant (1-1-6-11), Charles Wesley (1-1-6-12), and Minnie Elizabeth (1-1-6-13).

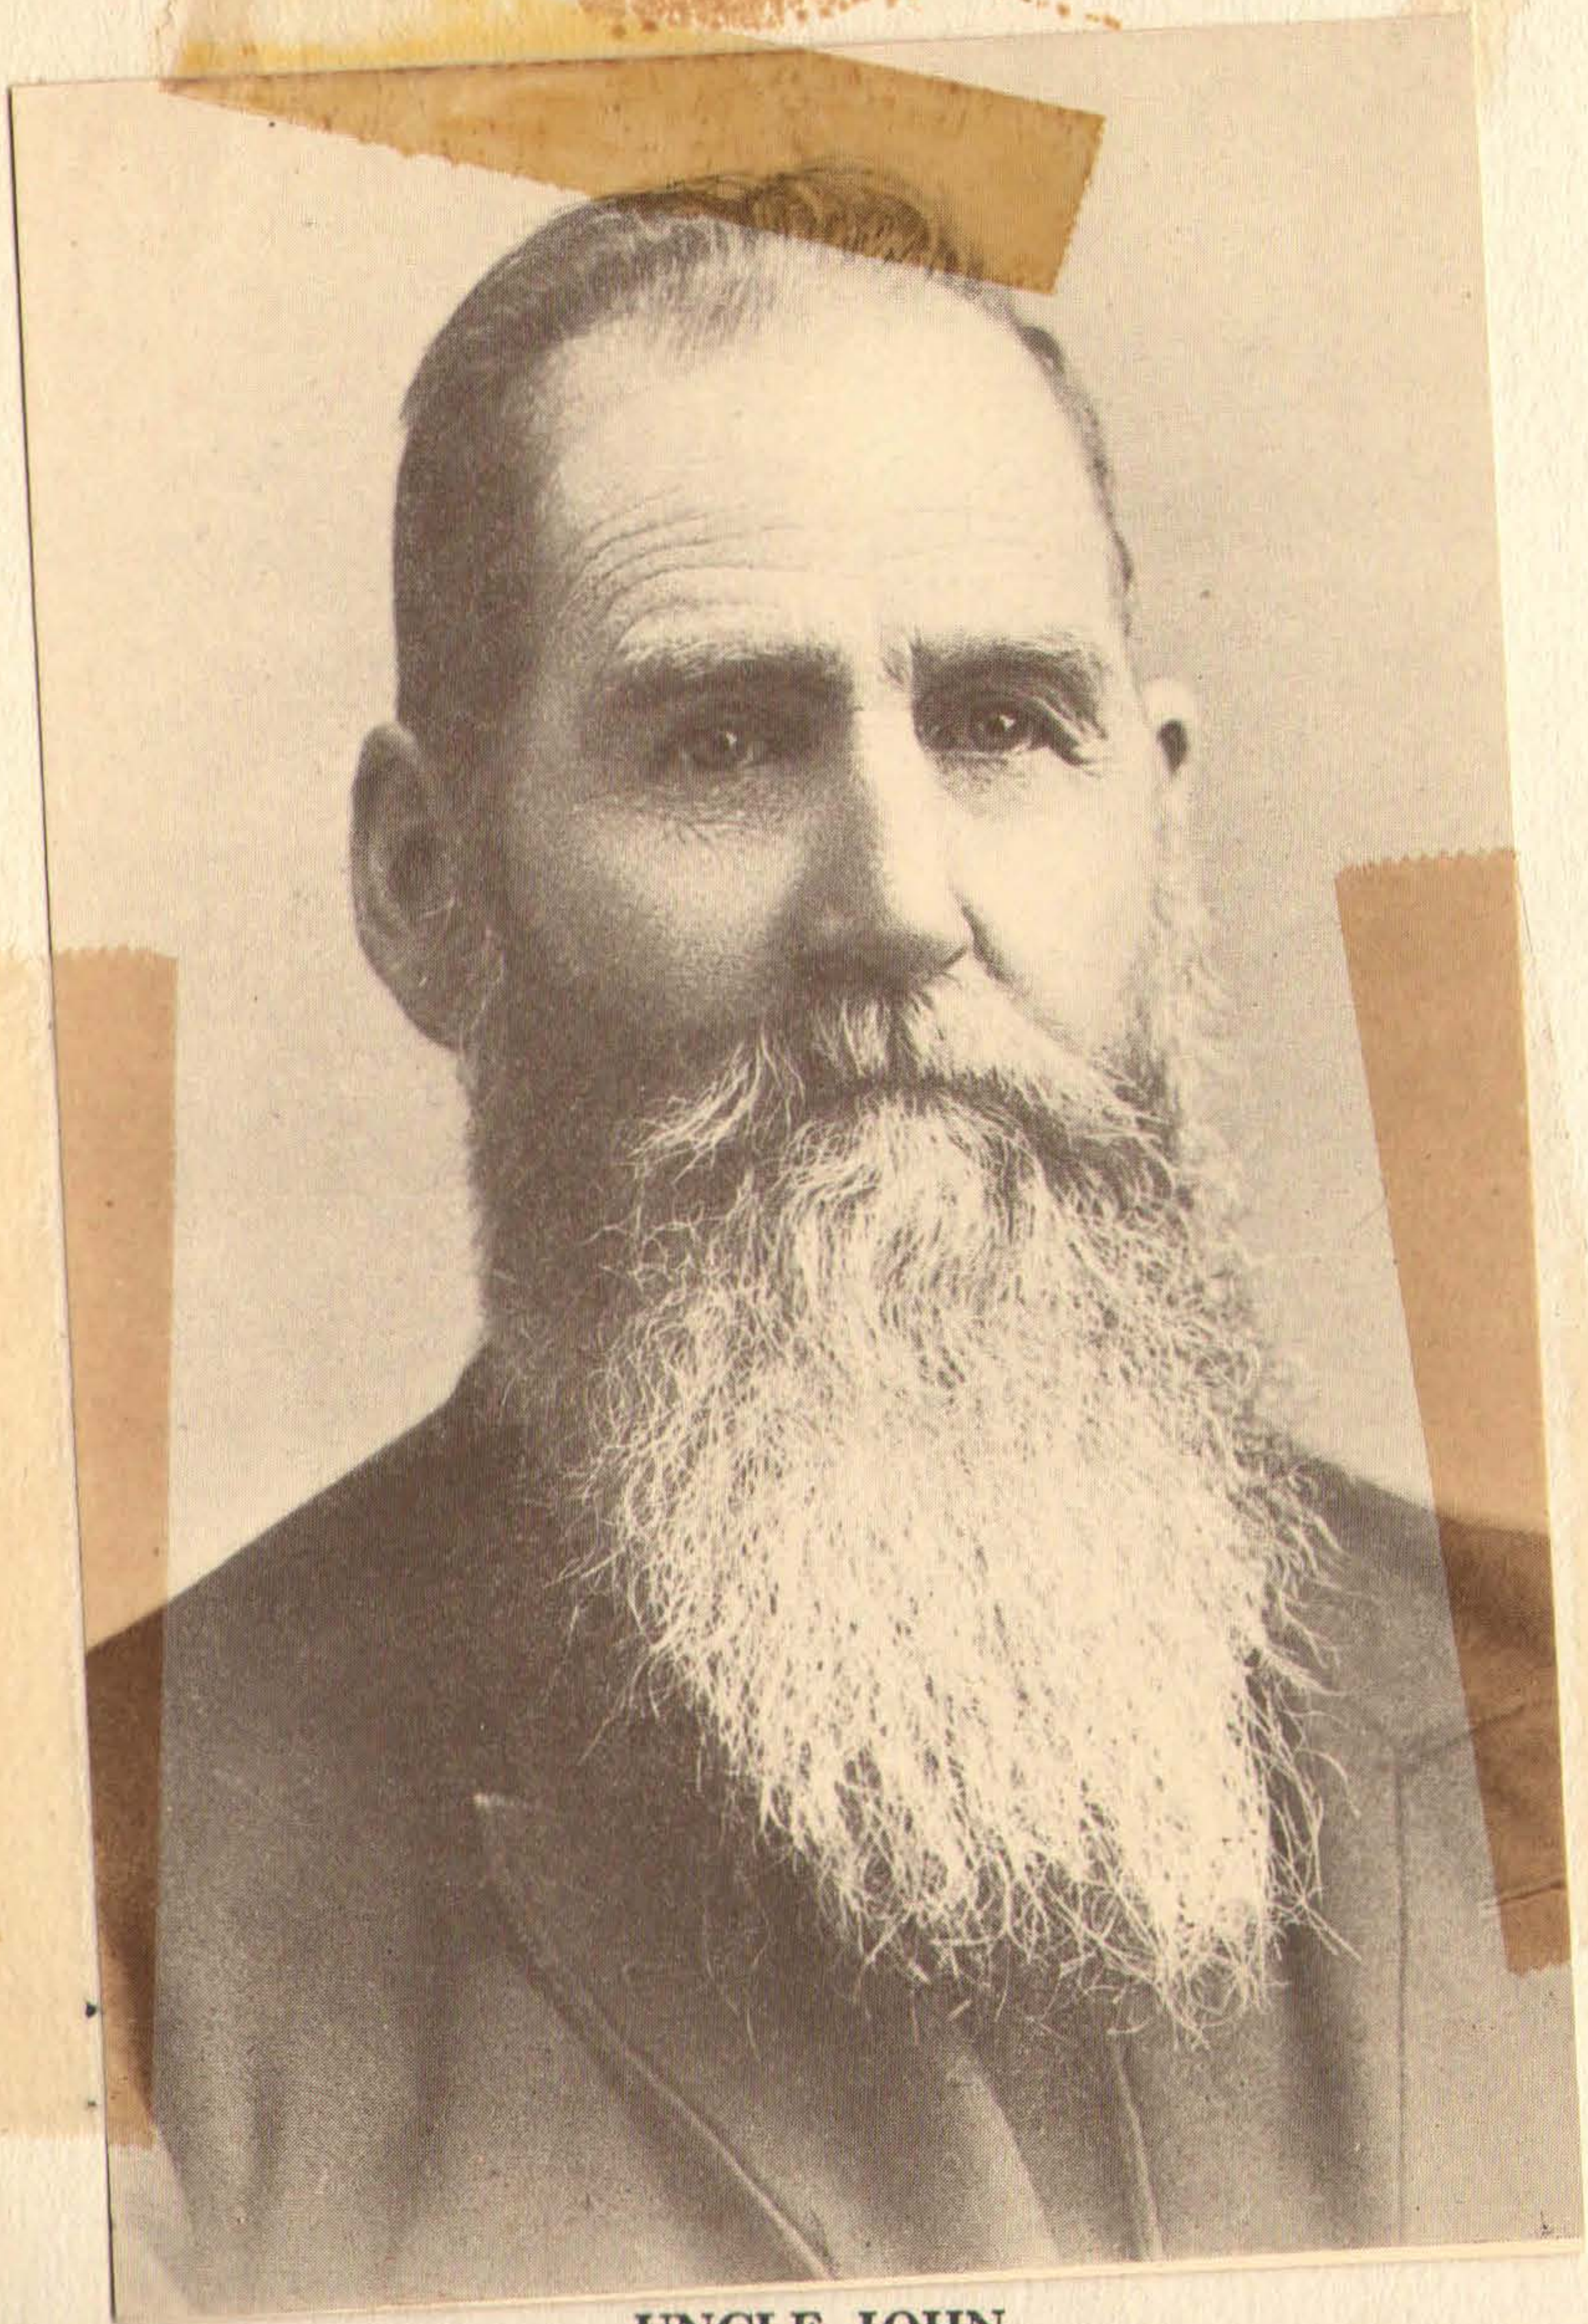

JOHN HUBBARD FUNSTON (1-1-6)

Was born in the log cabin which his father had built upon his farm near Chillicothe, Ross County, Ohio. He lived at home and assisted with the farm work during his childhood and until he became of age. During his childhood days it was necessary for him to work all of the time upon the farm in order to assist his father in supporting the large family. He only attended school three months, but studied much in the evenings, so that he enjoyed a very good education for that day.

After becoming of age he learned the carpenters trade and two years later in the fall of 1851 he traveled from Ohio to Illinois on horse back, bringing all of his personal belongings with him in a pair of saddle packs strapped over the horse's back behind his saddle. He stopped for a few weeks at Lovington, Ill., and then visited relatives at Perry, Pike Co., Ill., and late in the fall of the same year located near Monticello, Piatt Co., Ill. Here he met Elizabeth Ellen Bailey, oldest daughter of John and Mary (Hubbard) Bailey, to whom he was married Nov. 18, 1852. The young couple started housekeeping at once in a one room log cabin, in which greased paper was used for window lights instead of glass.

His trade as a carpenter, which he learned before leaving Ohio, then enabled him to make nearly all of their furniture. Some of this furniture still remains in the family. They lived in that locality, he working at the carpenters trade most of the time, until March 1857, when they moved to Newcomb Township, Champaign Co., Ill., and settled upon the farm where they lived for over thirty years. There upon the farm is where the hardships of life were met and pleasures enjoyed, their children were raised and taught integrity and godliness. It was there, through hard work, economy, honesty and good management, that their labors were rewarded with prosperity.

When they moved from Monticello and settled in Newcomb Township, he cut the timber and built a one room log cabin in which they lived two or three years. By that time he had cleared the timber and hewed the logs to furnish the material for a larger and better cabin, which he built, and in which they lived for several years. Then he had the logs cut and lumber sawed and built the two story frame house, which formed the first unit for the present residence. Years later he built the two story five room frame addition to the east of the first unit, which is still known as the new part of the house, and still later the kitchen wing and west bed room were built. In the first unit the sills and heavy timbers are of hewn oak. The corner posts are rabbetted oak and the rafters were originally oak poles. These were changed later and replaced with sawed lumber.

He was a successful farmer, a man of good judgment, with keen business ability, fine executive ability, and a good organizer and manager. He was a man with a vision and lived continually in advance of his time. He owned the first corn planter, the first reaping machine, and the first self-binder that were used in his neighborhood. He devoted much time and effort to raising and improving stock, and he was a good judge of stock.

While living in Newcomb Township he was a devout and active member of the Shiloh M. E. Church. When the First church was built he did much of the carpenter work and managed and planned the entire work. Later, when the church was remodeled, he was the active member of the Official Board in charge. He remained an officer in the church until he moved to Champaign, being at different times a trustee, steward, class leader, and Sunday School Superintendent. He was also president of the Township Sunday School Association for years. While living upon the farm he joined the Masonic Fraternity, and was a member of Lodge No. 220 A. F. & A. M. at Mahomet, being initiated an entered apprentice June 13, 1864, passed to the degree of Fellowcraft Aug. 15, 1864, and raised to the Degree of Master Mason Aug. 10, 1865.

In politics he was republican, was at different times elected to the office of Township Assessor, Tax Collector, Township Delegate to County and District Conventions, and held the office of School Trustee in Newcomb Township for nineteen years.

In September, 1890 he retired from activities of farm life and moved to Champaign, Ill. Here his wife died Sept. 4, 1895. He continued to live in Champaign until the time of his death, May 25, 1903. During his last years his daughter, Cora, and her husband, Mark Hazen, lived with him and kept house for him. His final illness, which was caused by the deterioration and hardening of the arteries (technically known as arterio-sclerosis) extended over a period of several months. During his illness he talked freely of death and the future, expressing his willingness and readiness to meet his Saviour. He was very patient during his suffering and very calm about arranging the details for the closing up of his business, and even discussed and directed the arrangement for his funeral and burial. He was buried at Riverside Cemetery, Mahomet, Ill., the Masonic Lodge conducting the services.

JOHN WILLIAM FUNSTON (1-1-6-6)

Was born in Newcomb Township, Champaign County, Ill. He received his early education at the Lester School, after which he attended the Mahomet High School one year, and spent one term attending the Brown's Business College in Champaign, where he was graduated in 1885. He spent one year in Hodgeman Co., Kansas, near Jetmore, with his cousin, C. E. Wilson, herding cattle upon the range. Returning to Illinois he only remained a short time and went back to Kansas, locating at Wichita, where he was employed in a hardware store. He lived at Wichita about two years, when he was taken sick and returned to his father's home in Illinois, in a weakened and very sick condition. He improved in health slowly, and spent the next winter in Pensacola, Florida, for the benefit of his health. Returning to Champaign County in the spring, he soon lost all he had gained in the mild climate of Florida during the winter. He then spent two summers in Menominee, Michigan (where his cousin, Jesse Hubbard, lived) in the employ of a large lumber company. Here he almost entirely regained his former strength and vigor. Upon returning to Champaign County, Ill., he was employed as cashier in B. F. Venum's Bank at Fisher, and later held a similar position in a bank in Minneapolis, Minn.

Feeling the need of a milder climate, he went to New Orleans, La., in 1893. There he joined the Masonic Fraternity and was raised to the Degree of Master Mason two years later. He was was a member of Louisiana Lodge No. 102.

In New Orleans he engaged in the tinsmith supply business with Leon Heymann, conducting a wholesale and retail store at 821 Union St., New Orleans, until the time of his death. Largely thru his efforts the firm built up an extensive and prosperous jobbing business throughout the southern and southwestern states. He traveled extensively through this territory, and established a large business friendship. His partner died in 1897, after which William conducted the business alone.

Prior to his death he had lived several years at the home of Mrs. Thomas Holmes, 1422 Harmony St., New Orleans. Thomas Holmes was a cousin of D. H. Holmes, who established the large Canal St. Store, which still bears his name. It was during Mardi Gras, 1899, at which time William was rooming with a young man by the name of Green. Upon the evening of Feb. 17, 1899, Mr. Green was out late attending a Mardi Gras celebration. William retired early in the evening, and when Mr. Green, his room-mate returned, he accidentally left a gas jet open, and in the morning both were found dead, having been asphyxiated.

His brother, Jesse G. Funston, who was then located at Charleston, S. C., went to New Orleans, and brought the body back to Illinois, where it was laid to rest in the Riverside Cemetery at Mahomet, Ill., the Masonic Lodge conducting the services. He was also a member of the Methodist-Episcopal Church.

GEORGE WILEY FUNSTON (1-1-6-7)

Was born in Newcomb Township, Champaign County, Ill., where he grew to manhood. He received his education at the country school, attended one year's high school at Mahomet, and was graduated from Brown's Business College at Champaign, Ill., in 1885. He lived at home with his parents and assisted his father in operating the farm until 1890 when he and Martha Lanam were united in marriage in Newcomb Township, at her home near Shiloh Center. At this time his parents left the farm and moved to Champaign, Ill. Wiley and his young bride moved into the homestead in Newcomb Township, and continued to operate the farm. After his father's death in 1903 he purchased the interest of the other heirs and still owns all of the land which once belonged to his father.

In 1913, after having lived 49 years in the same house in which he was born, he turned the farm over to a tenant, and retired from active farm life, and moved to Champaign, Ill., where he still resides. While living upon the farm he devoted much time and effort to raising, feeding and shipping hogs and cattle, and he is still interested in feeding and marketing stock. At the time he left the farm he was school trustee, which position he had held for a number of years.

During his entire life he has been a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and while living in the country was superintendent of the Sunday School, president of the Epworth League, president of the Township Sunday School Association, Trustee of the church, and secretary of the building committee when the new church was erected at Shiloh Center. Since moving to Champaign he has been a member of the official board of First Church, President of the Board of Trustees, and a member of the building committee for their new parish house, when it was built, it being the first parish house in the Conference to be dedicated.

EDMUND BAILEY FUNSTON (1-1-6-9)

Was born on the farm in Newcomb Township, Champaign Co., Ill., and received his early education at Lester School. He attended High School at Mahomet one term. In the fall of 1887 he entered the University of Illinois, and completed the regular architectural course, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science, when he was graduated June 8, 1892. The two years following he was employed as designer and draftsman with the Truesdale Mfg. Co., at Peoria, Ill., then he spent one year teaching manual training in the High School in Pueblo, Colorado. At the close of the school year he returned to Champaign, Ill., and after his mother's death in the fall of 1895, he went to New Orleans, La., where his brother, William, was then located. While there, he prepared the plans and superintended the construction of the power plant for the Edison Electric Co., at that time the largest electrical service station in the south. Having completed this work, he went to Atlanta, and in the fall of 1897 he went to South Bend, Indiana, to superintend the construction of the St. Joseph County, Indiana, Court House, which was then being built. After completing this work he was employed for four years as superintendent of construction for Joseph C. Llewellyn, Architect, whose office was in Chicago. During this time he was the superintendent in charge of the construction of five buildings for the College of Agriculture at Champaign, Ill., three school buildings, and a group of manufacturing buildings for the Advance Thresher Co. at Battle Creek, Michigan, and worked elsewhere. In the spring of 1903 it was necessary for him to give up his position and return to Champaign to assist in taking care of his invalid father. After his father's death, in the spring of 1903, he came to Racine, Wisconsin. He and Ella May Kephart were married Aug. 23, 1905 at Ravenswood, Ill. After coming to Racine, he was for six years a member of the firm of Guilbert & Funston, Architects. This partnership was dissolved in 1915, and since that time he has conducted the architectural business of Edmund B. Funston Co., Architects. For over twenty years his office has been in the same building. During this period he has designed and constructed many of the important and largest buildings in Racine and vicinity, including banks, churches, schools, manufacturing buildings, the Masonic Temple, and others.

He is a member of the First Methodist-Episcopal Church, and a member of the Board of Trustees. He is also a member of the Masonic Fraternity, belonging to Belle City Lodge No. 92, Orient Chapter No. 12 Royal Arch Masons, Racine Commandery No. 7 Knights Templar of Racine. He is a 32nd Degree Mason, belonging to the Wisconsin Consistory, and a member of Tripoli Temple A.A.O.N.M.S. He has resided in this city for over twenty years where he has a large number of acquaintances and friends.

JESSE GRANT FUNSTON (1-1-6-11)

Was born upon the farm in Newcomb Township, Champaign County, Ill., where he received his early education in the district school. He attended High School at Mahomet one year and attended the University of Illinois five years, graduating from the electrical engineering course, taking the degree of Bachelor of Science, in 1895. For two or three years following he remained in Champaign and was employed by the Home Telephone Co., while they were constructing their plant in Champaign and vicinity. In 1897 he went to New Orleans, Louisiana, where he was employed by the Cumberland Telephone Co., and assisted in installing their new switch board, which at that time was one of the largest in the south. From New Orleans he went to Atlanta and remained about a year, after which he was employed as traveling inspector for the Southern Bell Telephone Co., and traveled throughout the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida and North and South Carolina, inspecting their properties in the different cities. In 1898 he located at Charleston, S. C., and was employed by the Southern Bell Telephone Co. until he moved to Springfield, Ill., where he was employed as Telephone Engineer by the Central Union Telephone Co., for their Springfield branch. Upon Feb. 21, 1900 he and Jinksey Jane Hume were married at Seymour, Ill. They lived in Springfield for about two years, when they moved to St. Joseph, Missouri. Here he was in charge of the Home Telephone Co. until the fall of 1907. At that time he moved with his family to Geddes, S. D., where he was manager and one of the principal owners of the Missouri River Telephone Co. until 1914. They moved from Geddes to Vermillion, S. D. in 1915 and after living there about two years moved to Mitchell, S. D., where they live at the present time. Since moving to Mitchell he has conducted an automotive engineering office, devoting his entire time to electrical work upon automobiles.

During his entire life he has been not only a consistent member of the Methodist Church, but a great worker in many of its branches, having been superintendent of Sunday Schools, president of local and district Epworth Leagues in the different places where he has resided. He is a member of the Masonic Order, having been raised to the Degree of Master Mason at Geddes S. D. where he is still a member of the Craft.

*When I grow old
God grant that every child
Will feel the youthful texture of my soul,
And will not turn away from me
As from a shade or shrunk vine,
When I grow old.*

*When I grow old
God grant that I may have some task
Which must be done or some one fare the worse,
That in some corner of the earth
Some one will need my hand,
When I grow old.*

Speak truly, and each word of thine

Act truly, and thy life shall be

*Home by different ways. Yet all
Homeward bound through prayer and praise,
Young with old, and great with small,
Home by different ways.*

*Many nights and many days
Wind must blow and rain must fall,
Quake the quicksand, shift the haze.*

*Life hath called and death will call,
Saints who praying kneel at gaze,
Ford the floor or leap the wall,
Home by different ways.*

*Talk happiness; the world is sad enough
Then clasp your hand in the Father's
And sing, if you can, as you go;
Your song may cheer some one behind you,
Whose courage is sinking low.
And although your lips do quiver,
God will love you better so.*

THOMAS NEWTON FUNSTON (1-1-10)

Was born on a farm in Ross County, Ohio, near Chillicothe, where he lived with his parents during his boyhood years. He was the youngest son and assisted with the work upon his father's farm until the outbreak of the civil war. In 1861 he enlisted in the 18th Ohio Regiment, in which he served three years, and from which he was mustered out at the close of the war. The picture shown in the front of this book is a copy of his photograph taken at Chattanooga, Tenn., at the close of the war in 1864. His regiment was attached to General Thomas' division, known as the Army of the Cumberland. Some of the most important battles in which he took an active part were at Chattanooga, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, and Mission Ridge. He was captured by the Rebels at the Battle of Stone River, near Murphysboro, Tenn., Dec. 1, 1862, and was held for six months a prisoner of war, one month of which time he was confined to the noted Libby Prison. Here he suffered the prison hardships with his comrades. Early in June 1863, he was exchanged as a prisoner of war, and rejoined his Company.

He has had many interesting reminiscences to relate to the family regarding the hardships of war and his experiences while in the service. During the first year of his service, and soon after he enlisted, both his wife and widowed mother were called by death within a few days of each other. At that time he was unable to secure leave of absence in order to go home to attend the funerals. Thus, grief stricken, he was compelled to remain in the service.

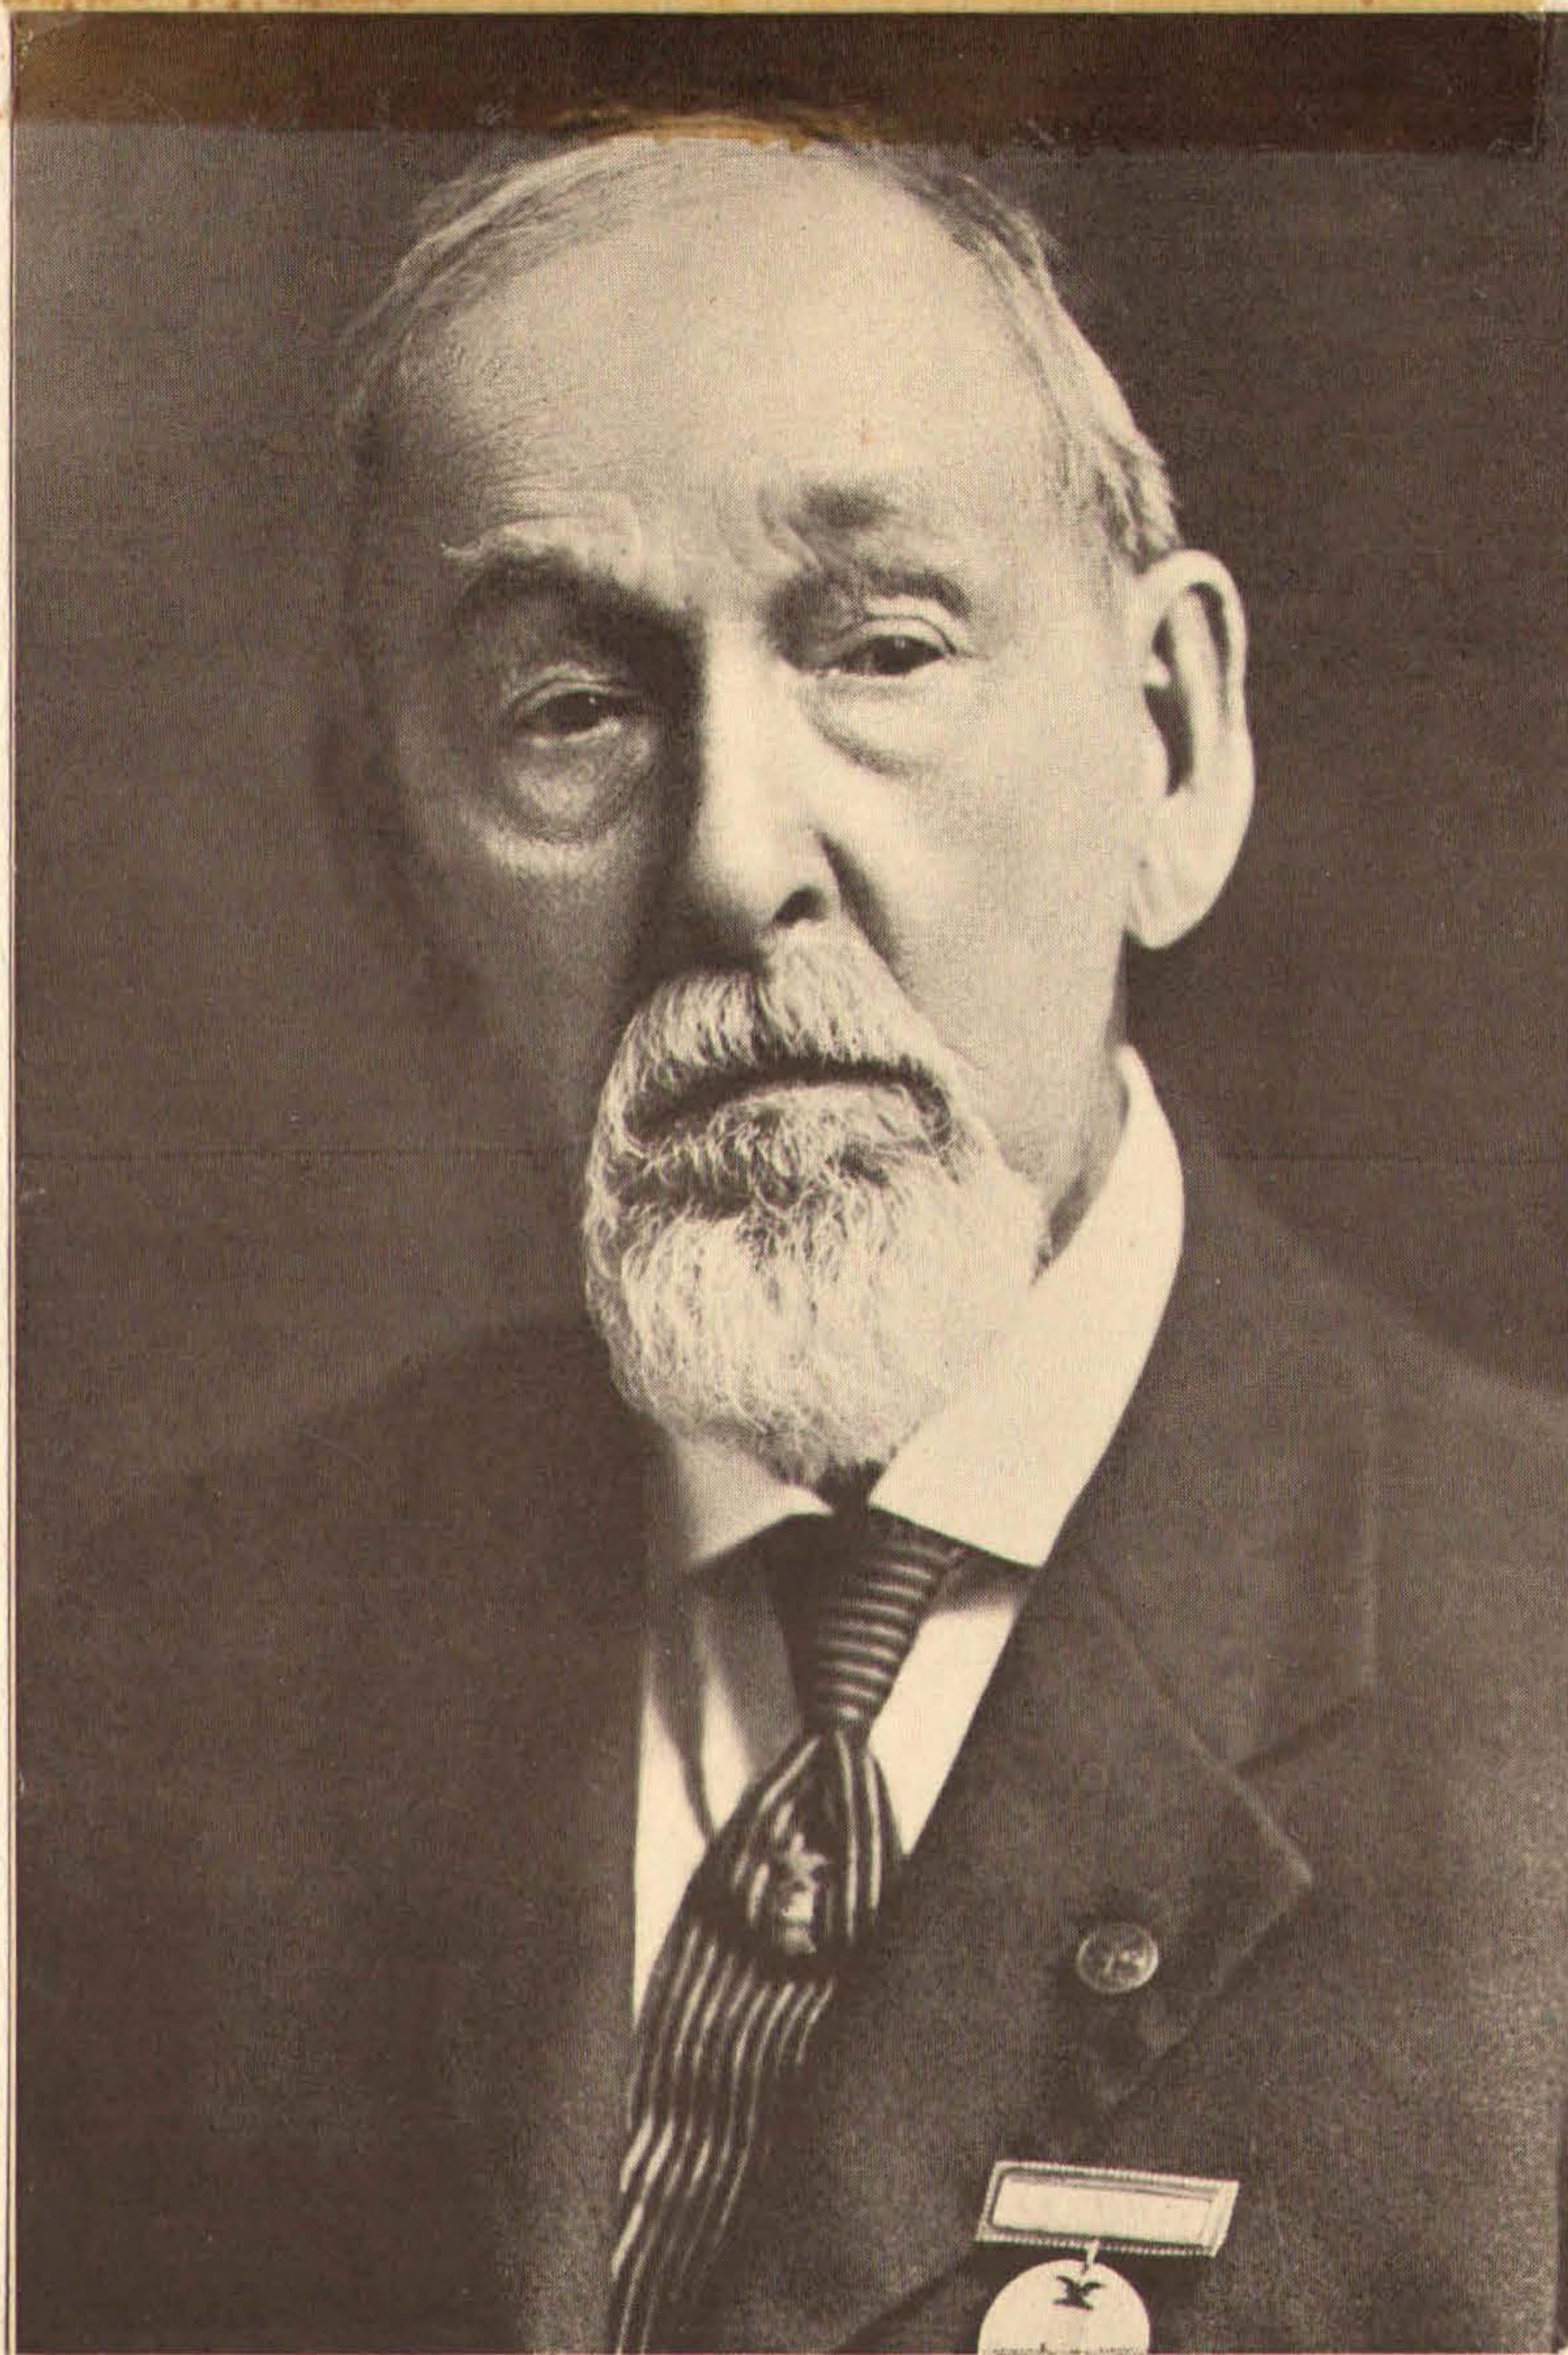

The war being over, he was mustered out of service Nov. 9, 1864, and spent about one year in Illinois, when he and Jane E. Dickerson, were united in marriage, she being a third cousin of the late President Harding. In the spring of 1866 he and his bride started to Kansas, driving with a covered wagon. This trip required six weeks, they reaching their destination in May of that year.

They settled upon a homestead located in Allen County, about five miles northwest of Iola. There he built up a home after a plan that he had had in his mind for many years. There they endured all of the hardships of frontier life in the early settlement of the great State of Kansas. The building of this State was no small task, and in it he and his wife bore their full share. The grasshoppers came and devoured all of their crops. The drought came and no crops were raised. Many other hardships were endured and still they remained. In the year 1874, not being able to raise any crops whatever, and having no other means of supporting his family, he was compelled to leave his wife and four small children (the youngest a baby one month old) alone in the prairie home and travel on foot over the prairies for one hundred miles, in order to go into the Indian Territory, there to obtain employment as an Indian Agent of the Government in order to secure the necessary money to support the wife and babies at home. After spending several months in the employment of the Government, he returned to his family and the next year was able to raise sufficient crops to provide food and clothing for them. After that, times and conditions improved and they continued to live upon the homestead until after the family of six children were raised. In 1902 he retired from farm life and they moved to Iola, Kansas, where he has lived since that time. Since his wife passed to the life beyond in 1919, his oldest daughter, who lives nearby, has assisted in his care.

He has always taken a keen interest and active part in the things that made for a good commonwealth, helping to establish and maintain the church and school. He has been an ordained minister of the Gospel for over fifty years, and during that time has not only filled the pulpit in many localities, but has been called upon to address public meetings and gatherings not only in the State of Kansas, but elsewhere. Although he is now over eighty-five years of age, he is still an entertaining, pleasing, and instructive speaker. During his younger years he was considered one of the prominent orators in eastern Kansas. When the fight for prohibition was on in Kansas in the eighties, he had a prominent part in assisting to place the prohibition law on the statute books. At this time he lectured in favor of temperance, in his home county, and throughout the southern part of the state. During his active life many visiting ministers and men of prominence throughout the State enjoyed the hospitality of their home and fireside in the Pioneer Days.

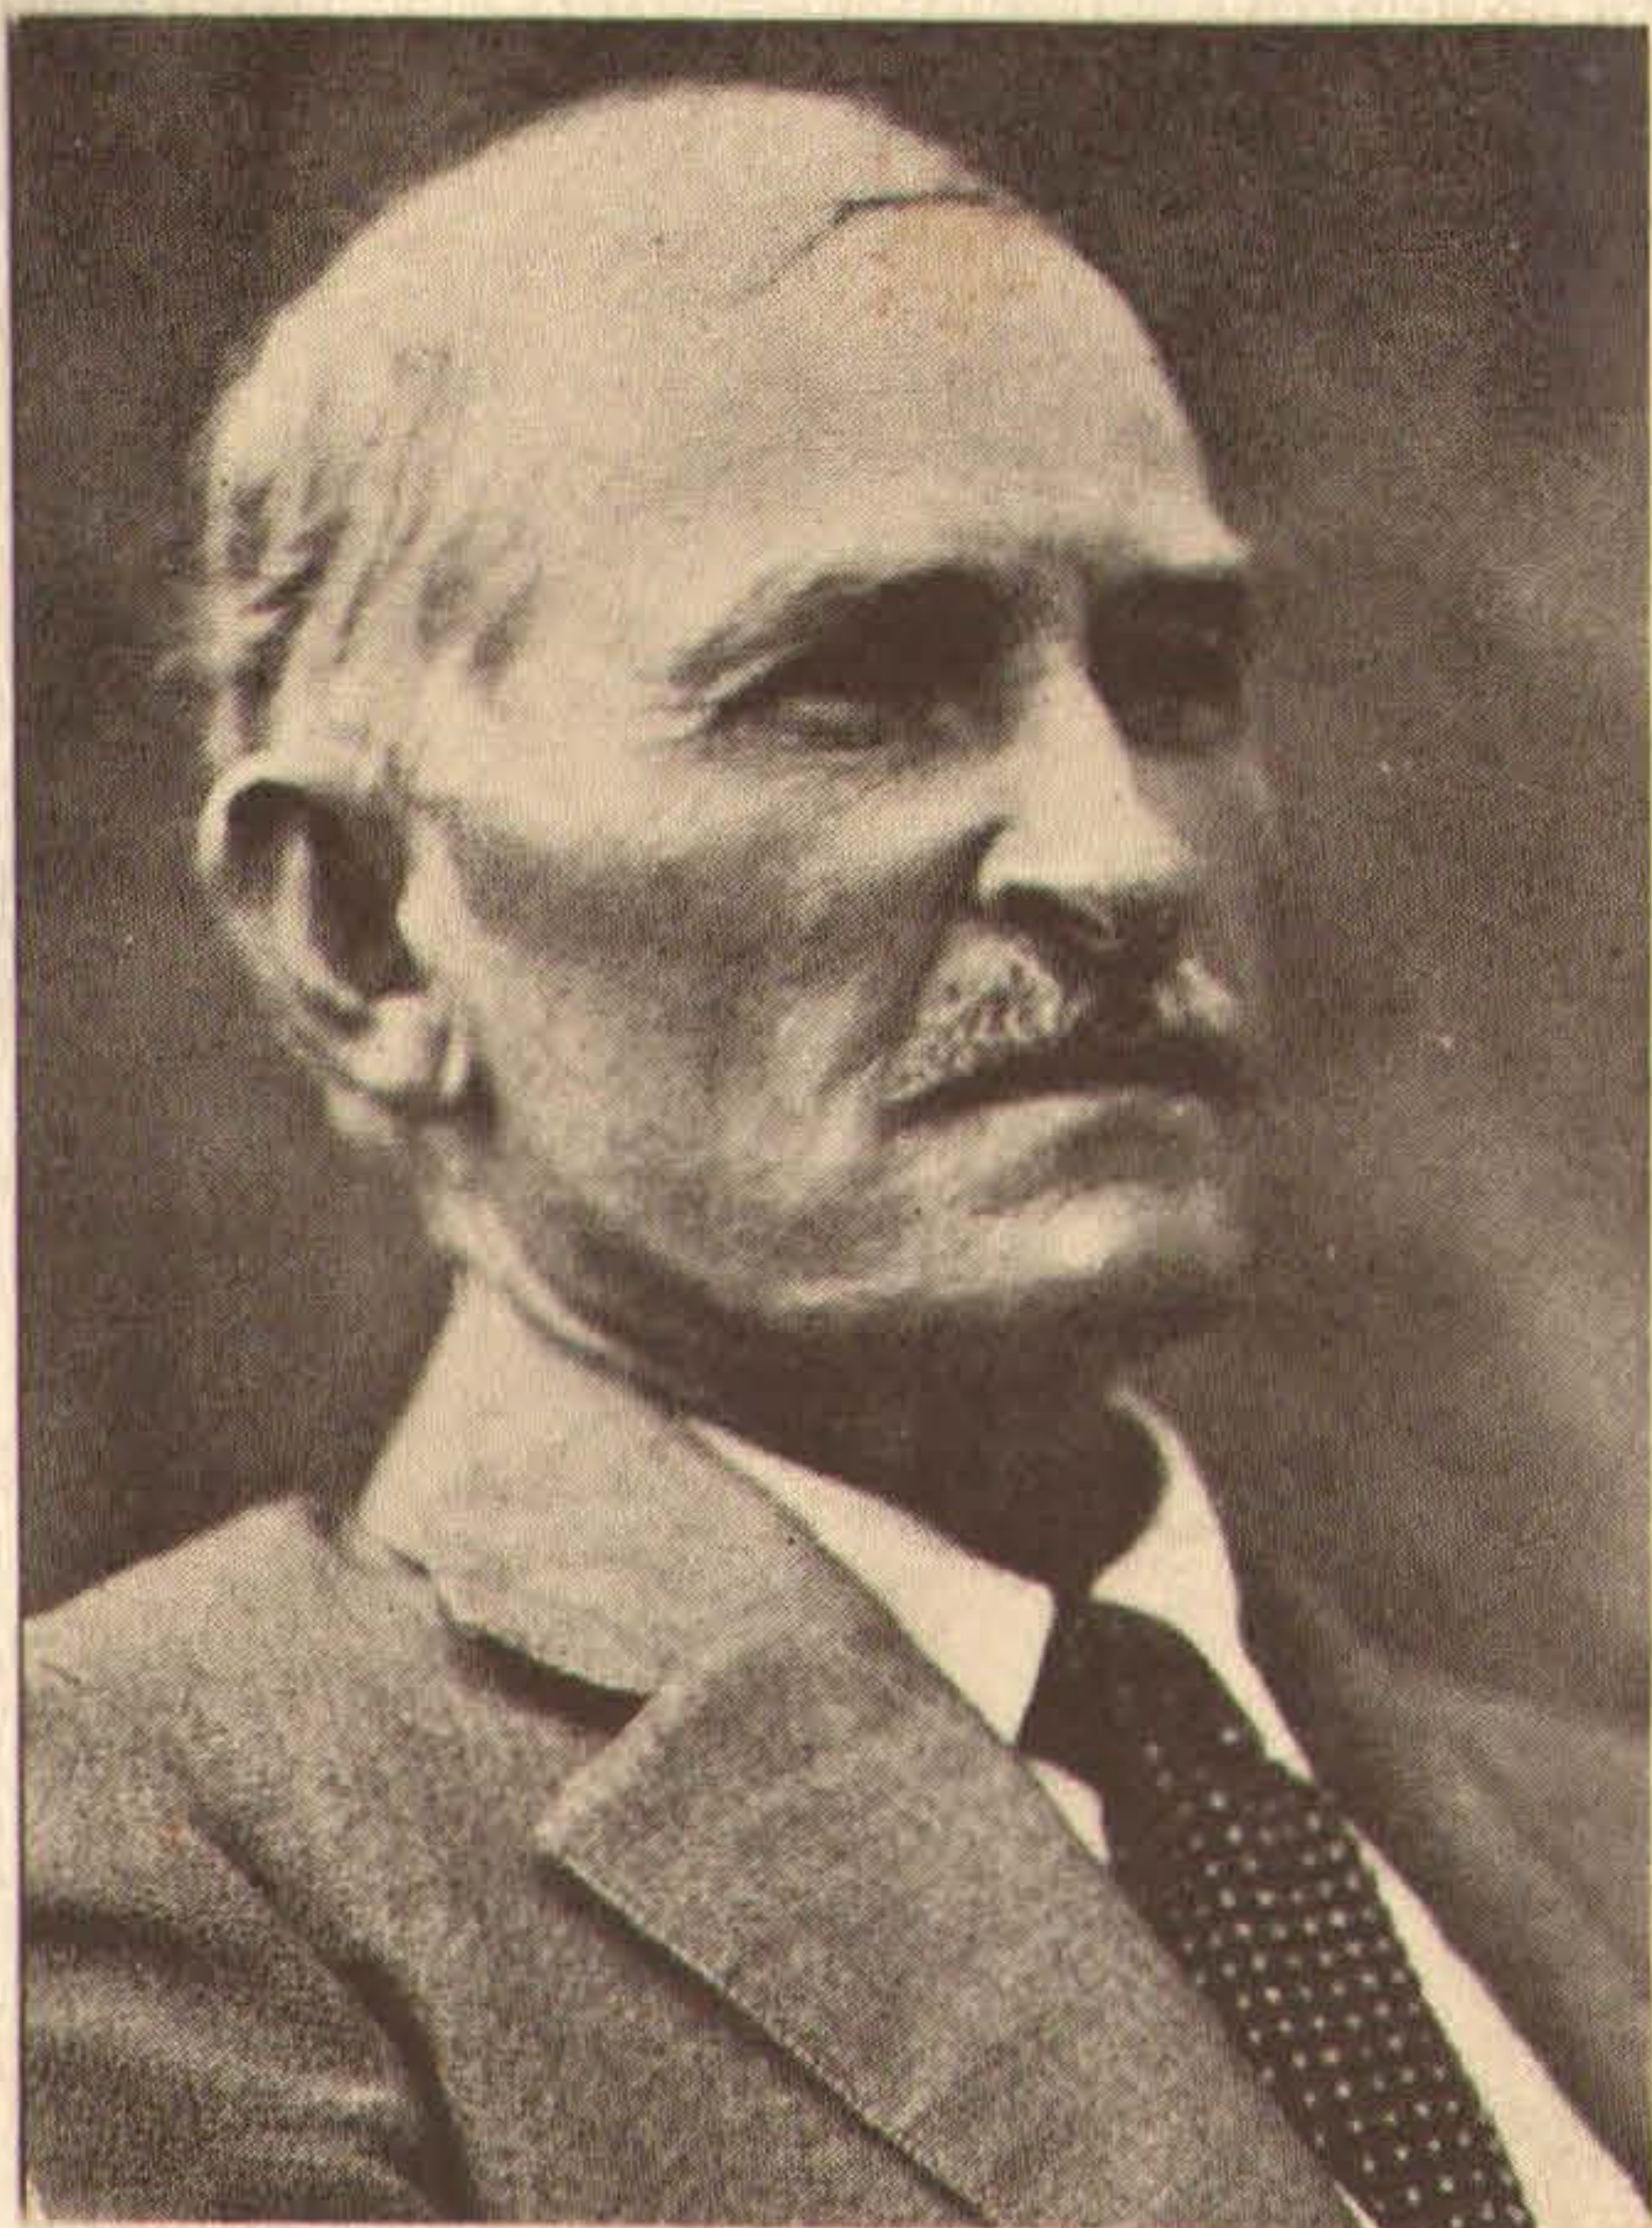

He has been a man of superior, intellectual ability, and has cultivated the happy faculty of preserving his youth to a remarkable degree. At the age of eighty-five he often filled the pulpit and regularly taught a large Sunday School class. He continued physically, as well as mentally, young so that upon his eightieth birthday he was able to walk four miles into the country for a visit and back home again. He was a natural entertainer and Uncle Newt's visits will ever be remembered as an enjoyable occasion of the year.

CHARLES EMORY FUNSTON (1-1-10-5)

Was born in Allen County, Kansas, upon a farm near Iola. He lived with his parents, assisting his father with the farm work, until grown to manhood. He received his education in the district school. After he was of age he spent one year in Champaign County, Ill., assisting his cousin with the farm work. Returning to Iola he was employed for a number of years with a company operating one of the smelters. He married Mary Bell Moss at Iola, Kansas, Nov. 29, 1898, where they lived until his work in the smelter undermined his health. Feeling it necessary to enjoy the benefits of a milder climate, they moved to California about twenty years ago, and located in the city of Exeter in that state, where his wife died in 1914. At this time he is one of the leading merchants in that city, and since residing there he has been interested in all of the civic affairs and has held the important position of Chief of Police, as well as other positions of trust.

WILLIAM ORA FUNSTON (1-1-10-7)

Was born in Allen County, Kansas, near Iola, where he received his education in the local school, and assisted his father with the farm work until he became of age. His second marriage, to Gertrude B. Crilly, occurred Jan. 14, 1917. They still reside at Tulsa, Okla., where he holds an important position in the Material Department of the Carter Oil Co.

*Build a little fence of trust,
Around to-day;
Fill the space with loving work
And therein stay.
Look not through the sheltering bars
Upon to-morrow;
God will help thee bear what comes
Of joy or sorrow.*

*If you are too weak to journey
Up the mountain steep and high,
You can stand within the valley,
While the multitude go by;
You can chant in happy measure,
As they slowly pass along;
Though they may forget the singer,
They will not forget the song.*

So shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words. I. Thess. 4:17-18.

LIFE'S JOURNEY

*Does the road wind up-hill all the way?
Yes, to the very end.
Will the day's journey take the whole long day?
From morn to night, my friend.*

*But is there for the night a resting place?
A roof for when the slow dark hours begin?
May not the darkness hide it from my face?
You can not miss that inn.*

*Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before.
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will not keep you standing at that door.*

*Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labor you shall find the sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yea, beds for all who come.*

—Christina Rossetti.

LIFE

*Life, I know not what thou art,
But I know that thou and I must part;
And when or how or where we met
I own to me's a secret yet.*

*Life, we've been long together,
Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
'Tis hard to part when friends are dear;
Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear.*

*Then steal away, give little warning,
Choose thine own time;
Say not "Good-night," but in some brighter clime
Bid me "Good-morning."*

Anna Letitia Barbauld.

OTHER FUNSTON FAMILIES

GENERAL FREDERICK FUNSTON:

It is possible, and quite probable, that General Frederick Funston is a descendant of one of the brothers of Jesse Funston (1). According to the best available information two other brothers came to America from Ireland with him about 1785. After landing they separated and he never heard of his two brothers again. In those days, when communication and transportation was very difficult, it was not uncommon that members of a family should be thus separated and lost to each other. Although no relationship has ever been traced, it is reasonable to believe that General Funston is a descendant of one of the lost brothers. His father, Congressman Edward Funston, lived in Allen County, Kansas, and was a neighbor of Uncle Newt. (Thomas N. Funston 1-1-10), who also lived upon a farm in the same county. General Funston's boyhood days were spent with his father upon the farm near Iola in Allen County, Kansas.

REV. JOHN W. FUNSTON:

John W. Funston, residing at 924 East 76th St., Ingleside, Chicago, Illinois, is a minister in the Methodist-Episcopal Church, a member of the Rock River Illinois Conference. He is located at present in Ingleside, pastor of a large Methodist Church, and is a prominent preacher and orator. His father's family came direct from Ireland to America about 1840, and located near Galena, Illinois. Such names as Jesse, John, William, and Margaret are common in his family, so it is not at all unreasonable to assume that Jesse Funston (1) was a relative of his ancestors in Ireland. Rev. Funston is a personal friend of the Author and they have had many pleasant visits together, speculating upon their probable relationship.

BISHOP JAMES BOWEN FUNSTEN, D. D.

Bishop Funsten was born July 23, 1856 and consecrated Bishop in the Episcopal Church July 13, 1899. He was Missionary Bishop of Idaho, located at Boise City, where he died Dec. 1, 1918, being the third Missionary Bishop of Idaho. It is believed Bishop Funsten was a descendant of a family who located and resided in Virginia, and it is possible he may be a descendant of one of the brothers who came to America with Jesse Funston (1), although the Bishop's name was spelled with an e.

I DO the very best I know how, the very best that I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong ten thousand angels swearing that I was right would make no difference."

—ABRAHAM LINCOLN
